

Math Power Writing Teams

The Math Power materials were developed through a team effort. Writing teams consisting of parents, mathematics teachers, college mathematics professors, and community educators worked together to prepare the materials. Learning activities were drawn from many sources, including the wide experience of the members of the teams.

Three teams, one for each book, gathered and wrote activities. The materials were edited and organized by Gerald Kulm, then prepared for publication by the AAAS staff. The writing teams were:
